-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: paragraphs [0004] and [0005] are improper.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Deaton et al. (4471596).

Deaton et al. disclose a ceiling structure A comprising: sheets S spanning between parallel beams 82, Figure 8, mounted underneath a fixed ceiling (col. 4, line 49); the sheets elastically deformed from an initial configuration to a desired curved configuration (Fig. 1) in which the sheets form the visible ceiling face; the sheets S having a first expanse along the beams and a transverse second expanse; the sheets along the first expanse have edge portions 86 on abutment areas 84, 85 on the beams 82; force-transmitting means 12 for cooperating with portions of the sheets, which portions are arranged between the edge portions in order to provide, in combination with the abutment force of the sheets against the abutment areas, the flexular moment for maintaining the desired curved configuration of the sheets.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 2-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments, see page 1, filed 11 September 2007, with respect to the rejection of claim 1 under 35 U.S.C. 102 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new rejection is made in view of Deaton et al. The examiner contends the Deaton et al. beam or channel 82, hanger 84, hook 85, slot 86 anticipate the claimed structure. This structure provides the flexural moment necessary for maintaining the sheets' curvature since the channels prevent the sheets from moving when in the sheets are attached to the channels.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Thompson (3394506) shows, in Fig. 8, a sheet that extends beyond the support. Fletterick et al. (6374564) present a support system provide the flexural moment necessary for maintaining the sheets' curvature.
